

MANHATTAN HOUSE.

NO. 68 DUANE STREET, NEW YORK.
JAMES RYAN, from the Howard House, Boston, respectfully informs the public, that he has taken the large building in Duane street, 68 door from Broadway, known as Rutgers' College, for the purpose of a Hotel and Restaurant. The interior of the building has been entirely taken out, and refitted expressly to suit the business of the present occupant.

Mr Ryan will keep the Manhattan House for the accommodation of Clubs and Parties. The best wines and liquors will be furnished from his cellar, having been carefully selected from the best stocks in Boston, a large portion of them being of the celebrated stocks long in the cellar of Mr. Goughier, late of the Exchange Coffee House. Rooms will be furnished for References, and Courts Martial. Transient and permanent boarders will be accommodated in the best style known in the country; and elegant apartments will be let, with or without board.

The Table d'Hôte will be supplied with every delicacy of the various seasons. Breakfasts, Dinners and Suppers, of every description, will be served at short notice, and various soups will be ready every day from eleven to three. Mr. Ryan is confident that in this department, his own experience, added to the skill of the persons employed as waiters, will enable him to please the most fastidious epicures, both in respect to quality and style.

Those friends who have known the character of Mr. Ryan's House in Boston, he is assured, will find his accommodations better, his means more ample, and his diligence more untiring; and from such strangers in this city, as love excellence in the various departments of his profession, he would be the factor of an early call, with the full hope of giving satisfaction.

House was opened on the 15th June, 1837. epif jelt

No pains will be spared to furnish the table with every variety the market affords. Religious worship will be regularly maintained every day, and as far as possible to prevent, on company will be received or bills of fare settled on the Sabbath. No smoking allowed. The Hotel will be kept entirely on the Temperance principles, and while not a particle of intoxicating liquor will be sold or used, it will be a quiet home for gentlemen travelling with their families, as well as for others. There are several suites of rooms for the accommodation of small families as permanent boarders. Application for permanent board will be received at the Hotel every day.

The pork must be corned and well fattened; all the skulls, feet, and hind legs, and the whole of the head, must be excluded from the lot; and the remainder of the carcass, weighing not less than six pounds each; not more than three shoulders, pieces, and one jaw and a half, or the jaws of a hog and a half, shall be allowed to a barrel.

The whole quantity of the said beef and pork must be delivered between the dates of the acceptance of the respective offers, and the periods of delivery; must be thoroughly salted, or struck, with the best quality of sea, coarse, Turk's Island, Isle of May, or St. Ubes salt, and no other; and after remaining a sufficient time for the salt to penetrate the meat, it must be thoroughly washed, and be packed with a sufficient quantity of the quality of salt, and five ounces of pure saltpetre, pulverized. The salt used in striking must be carefully separated from the pieces, and the pieces must be drained or placed on inclined boards, and suffered to remain in that state for some time before the pieces are put in the barrel.

DR. GRAHAM'S VEGETABLE PILLS.

IN these Pills the proprietor offers to the public the result of a long and an unvaried investigation of the Laws of the Human System. He trusts that prejudice will not raise its voice against the result of his researches, and that the laws which govern the system, and that the cry of Quackery! Quackery! will be silenced by the truth of the facts, and the rapidity with which the invalid from the short and speedy road to health.

It is a common place troth, admitted by all, but alas! neglected by nearly all, that most of the diseases to which the human frame is subject, are produced by excesses and irregularities of living, thereby disturbing the laws which govern the functions of the body. These laws are simple and plain, the neglect of which is as sure to bring a mournful train of evils as the neglect of the moral laws of our nature.

The Stomach has been justly styled "the storehouse of disease." How often are persons, the natural guardians of their children's health and welfare, the most judicious in the rules of diet, and the most careful in the selection of their food, yet, by the misadvice of a friend, or the too common practice of gratifying children in their capricious and every kind of food, whatever may be the constitution of the former or the nature of the latter, they are exposed to the most dangerous and distressing diseases, and the most rapid and deadly to health.

It is a common place troth, admitted by all, but alas! neglected by nearly all, that most of the diseases to which the human frame is subject, are produced by excesses and irregularities of living, thereby disturbing the laws which govern the functions of the body. These laws are simple and plain, the neglect of which is as sure to bring a mournful train of evils as the neglect of the moral laws of our nature.

But among the Causes of Diseases, and a tendency thereto in the system is the use of indigestible and unwholesome food, in preference to the productions of the vegetable Kingdom. Indigestion acts as though the strength, vigor and health of the body rose in proportion to the load of Animal Food they are capable of forcing daily into their stomachs. Nature has designed mankind should subsist upon a Vegetable Diet. This is the healthful and the only diet which is adapted to the constitution of the human body, and the most salutary to health.

ORIGINAL POETRY.

TO "NAT," OF THE MORNING POST.

When tip or wilding seize the passive pen,
And ride the Pegasus with spur and whip,
Pity cries, mercy for the mawkish men,
And spares the biting jest, the quick, the quip,
To leave them to their own, their "bafly fame,"
And will not waste the "candle on the game."

But when winged fancy, diamond pointed wit,
And mugs'ichely possesses the soul,
And are debased, degraded, 'tis heft

That satire should arouse, spur, tame control,
"Lay on the whip, where wit is folly's tool,"
And lash the wicked, though she spares the fool."

'Twas thus felt satire, when she heard "Nat" sing,
His last and lowest, loo est, lowliest strain,
And thought, if thus he'd soil his muse's wing,

The gift of Genius had been his in vain;
Better by far, to stick to honest plod,
Than dim your fancy, and disgrace yourself.

Think ye, that you your destiny fulfil,
When the soul cramped by passions nothing loth,
Descends the office of the pimp to fill,

And points the bawdy jest, or rounds an oath?
Fie on thee "Nat," when next thy muse takes flight,
I pray thee, soar above these realms of night.

Let genuine plume his pinion, try his strength,
And if, Icarus like, he snags too high,
It will be fame enough, to die at length.

Consumed in one's own thoughts, in the far sky,
Loosed from the chains that bound you, fet'ring clay,
Live—love forever in your endless day.

Tuo.

"NAT'S" SOLILOQUY.

After the effect produced by "Nat's" Satire.

Cease, stern Morality! cease, chaste Caprice!
Wings of "Nat's" muse thy direful flapping cease!
Shake not thy withering dew upon my fame;
Cast not thy shadows o'er my gilded name.

Alas! why did I thus refuse to hear?
For, long ago, "Apollo pulled mine ear."

There has been spread about that Dr. GORDAK has left the country, and that he has returned to Germany long ago, and that he is not the same man who once gave a general cure, and that his friends and the public are assured that he never left this country. My residence is in the city of Boston, my office is in No. 59 Union Street, and I am of my celebrated medicine, and give advice to all who are afflicted with any disease.

INDIGESTION, JAUNDICE AND BILIOUS COMPLAINTS. Anderson's Vegetable Extract, for Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Jaundice, Bilious Complaints, weakness of the Stomach and Bowels, and consequent loss of appetite; nervous complaints, headache, sour stomach, flatulence and habitual constipation.

This medicine is composed entirely of vegetable substances is perfectly safe in its operation, and may be given to children or persons of the most delicate habit, without the least risk of inconvenience.

The uniform success which has attended the use of it where it has been extensively used, in the most celebrated medical establishments of the United States, and in the West Indies, attested by distinguished and highly respectable persons, affords, next to a trial of the medicine itself, the best commentary upon its virtues, and the best recommendation which can be offered to those who are unacquainted with it.

Extract of a letter received from a gentleman in Boston, who has suffered severely from indigestion for three years. "During this time, I suffered very much from mental depression, constant pain in the head and breast, and side, sharp shooting pains over almost the whole system—the food that I ate seemed to pass into my lungs, and there remain, giving me great pain as I tended with a strong degree of heat. At times, I suffered so much from the pain of indigestion as to be confined to the bed for two or three days. During one of these most severe attacks of indigestion, I was induced by the advice of a friend to try Anderson's Vegetable Extract. In the course of a few weeks I found myself much better, and by the time I had taken two bottles, considered myself wholly free from the complaint. I continue, on the least feeling of any thing like indigestion or pressure on the stomach, to take about a table spoonful of it, which has the effect of a few hours completely restores me. It has had with me a very wonderful effect, in strengthening the stomach and invigorating the whole system, and judging by my own case, I consider it in all diseases connected with the digestive organs to be a very valuable medicine.

It has been found to be singularly efficacious in cases of the most obstinate headache.

It is put up in large bottles containing a pound and a half and sold at seventy-five cents each, by Jonathan P. Hall, Jr., No. 1, Union Street, John P. Warren, No. 1, Court Street, J. L. Brown, near Boston Market, Easton S. Holden, near the Western Avenue, Richard A. Newell, Summer Street, Boston Samuel Kidder & Co., Charlestown, E. G. Lemon, Roxbury.
